

Well tested trading tips

The trading journey is not a joke ,at the beginning I was not much concerned about journaling my trades ,but as time went ,as I continued to test strategies,I found myself messing everything because every trade I entered it was forgot right there and every time I entered in the market charts it was like starting afresh every time. So I took this initiative of journaling those trades so that I may be in a permanent journey and to prevent blowing my accounts.My name is Benson and Below will be my workspace and watchlist of journaling my trading activities hence forth ,hope it will help someone someday;

Here we start;

If in your trading you spot an order block and that order block is followed by a very clear FVG then you should wait to go long /short when market retests to the value gap because that will act as a breaker,Remember

Now I have realized that you can even spot a long long order block and wait to trade on it in the future especially the order blocks of the higher time frame. So I will have to be updating every kind of spot that can produce a signal so that in the future I can base a trading plan from that ,if that is the case then I will be more privileged to be in Forex trading or in the market.s

Sep 12	Buy limit GOLD	$8.49	No	The market was an uptrend (look at fig. 1.1). The liquidity sweep was sported in 1 min time frame. But still I did my analysis shown in fig 1.1 and 1.2 prior to the signal sent.	15 min		Though I had made small losses this week due to miscopying of signal,i regained my money actually even to the point of making a $1.25 profit. This gave me an insight is not a scam but a business like any other one.	$ 4 5. 6 6
Sep 15	sell(market execution) GOLD	No	No(SL at BREAKEVEN)	The market was an uptrend structured 4:00 pm			My account was just there ,no profits no loss ,but I decided to remain patient and keep analyzing the market to see whether it will align with my mentor's.

Sep {17- 29}	N/A	N/A	N/A	Here we are saying N/A because there are irregular market activities ,th at gave both losses and profits but am happy to say profits were a bit more.	N/A		My experience here was special ,some trades sent by my mentor were losses,so at some point I decided to trade on my self ,i discovered it wasn't easy because my trading had no specific strategy ,it was testing many strategies of which they didn't work,so it was a tough experience with mixed emotions.
Sep 29	Buy {mark et executi on}	$5.95	no	In higher time frame ,the market was an uptrend,this was the start of week Monday,now we were able to spot liquidity at min 5 and	5 min		To be sincere the previous week,{those trades I have not recorded},our mentor sent some signals that could go in our direction	$ 5 7. 9 4

	GOLD			also an order block below ,so we entered the market at that order block 10:26 a.m- around 12 p.m			and after certain time they reverse and go against us ,thus we are stopped out ,,so this time I exited the trade at $ 5.95 profit so I never held to the tp. {FEAR}
Sep 30	Buy GOLD	no	$23.68	The market at the higher timeframe was an uptrent Iremember I had made my analysis but I never believed on myself so I used mentors signal then boom 11:12 a.m			This was most dangerous feeling ,the markeyt stopped us out ,at this point I decided no following the mentors signals again.		$ 33.35

On this day sep 11/2025 ,I created a working signal of 100pips ,okay let me journal it the way it happened,

1. first of all the time was 8:40-940a.m going to the london session.
2. Secondly,i uised the 2 timeframe to see the overall market structure ,
3. thirdly ,i went to the 15 timeframe ,

now look what happened ,at 2 hour timeframe ,the market was completely an uptrend,but in that uptrent I spotted a liquidity (a trendline LIQUIDITY)

Here is the illustatration on the pic:

So as you can see that I have the trendlines ,the market has broke the lower trendline ,so I was expecting the market to move upward as illustrated with the ;

Now for the 15 timeframe here is what you can see in the pic ,i spotted an order block ,the very valid order block ,so I expected the market to hit the inducement order block and continue upward and align with my 2hour timeframe expectation

So in this case I entered the market when the price reached the order block and set a buy limit order which was executed I set the tp as you see ,but the main tp was 3334.62 of which it was Smashed ,Thank you.

NOTE: When working with Smart Money Concept (SMC), Many people tend to major most on liquidity as their main analysis, here is the take, You should first identify the Market Structure, Secondly, Mark the key levels like supply & demand or order blocks then lastly the liquidity should be your last take and identify your entry points. Sounds interesting right?

TODAY on 27th september 2025 I have made a discovery on forex trading, this is it,

Now if you spot a very clear level or an interest level, many traders tend to want it to be respected after several minutes or even some hours in that session, so what they do not know is that a key level or an interest level may be triggered by a session and be carried forward to the next day. And that is where you decide whether to enter the trade, so be patient and wait for clear set ups even if your set up was never respected today it may be carried forward the next day and act.

on the figure as you can see the order block that the market reacted, I spotted it the previous day but the market respected the order block the next day on the same session, as you can see if it was looking to buy I could end up in massive profits.

Also look at these figures ;

fig. 4.0

ON the first image as shown below ,,the London ,new york decision triggered a very clear fvg that as a trader we expected it to be respected during those sessions ,,but no yhat did not happen ,the market consolidated for hours and the fvg was respected during sydney session,so as a trader I could not enter the trade because these sessions have a lot of fake moves ,so yes later the market respected my key level and continued up but as you can see it left behind another fare value gap ,,so this fvg is what I waited to be respected and for sure it was respected during the london,ny session.If I were to enter a buy I could be in massive Profits.

The 29th Sep trading will be hosted below here;
This is helpful because I will be able to go back there and re nlyse and know why the mentor did this ;lkmkjkol

TODAY 30TH SEP

One think I have learned at this end of Sep is that and I think I had mentioned it earlier ,do not take liquidity sweeps as the backbone of your trading. What do I mean?

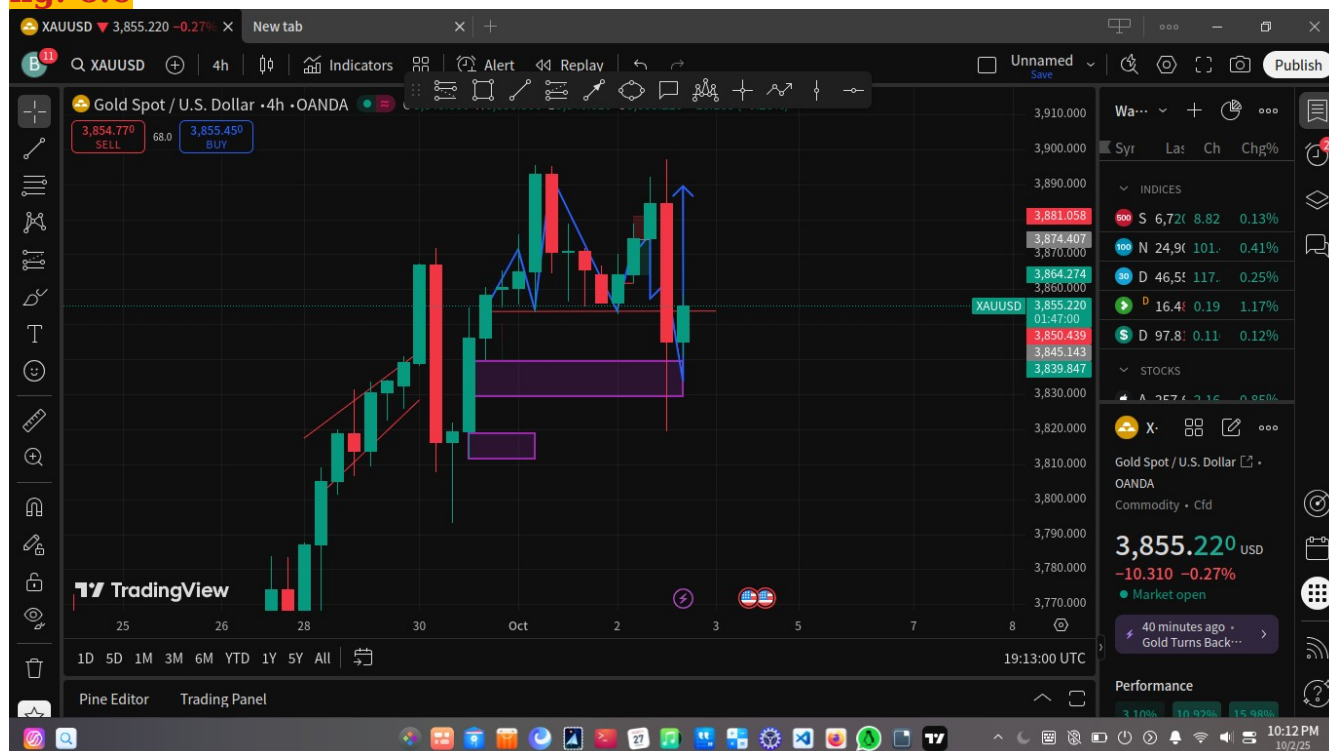

Liquidity sweeps only becomes valid when they align with the higher time frame analysis + the session you are trading in ,so if you lets say spot an OB in higher time frame 4h/1h then you should wait for the market to go to that order block ,note that the order block may not be triggered so do not force those trades ,so if it is fortunately triggered that is where you need to go to lower time frame and look for liquidity and also minor order blocks ,FVGs and also look for the chart patterns that liquidity may be lying ,,when the liquidity is swept do not just enter the market because you saw the sweep ,wait for the confirmation like break of structure or change of a character,This explanation is simple ,but it takes a lot of your influence to make this happen ,and as you know impatience kills this all.

SIGNAL COPYING FACTS;

One thing I have come into conclusion is that ,copying signals wont make you profitable ,the market need you to know what kind of analysis you have made , how is the probability of that market ,is the market strong enough to hold your 3 trades ,,remember here the mentor or whoever you are copying trades from ,is trading on his own ,also you have to accept that your mentor may not be making losses as you do ,why?Because the mentor only trades the money you pay him to teach you and for signals. Take in my case I have only joined one of his groups called vip signals ,,so we are total of 39 individuals each paying 2k,that totals to 78k to the mentor ,so he can decide to risk the 78k because the money does not mean a lot to him ,whether he wins or not ,its not his money he is using.And that is not only the group he is managing ,there are several others where people (beginners) are paying 5k each to be taught. Imagine how much he makes each month ,so in my conclusion the market may not be paying the mentor but we do.However much you see him send those signals ,some works ,others don't ,,so it is the matter of being lucky and if you are winning in his signals ,they are not going to sustain you. At first as I joined his vip signals ,i just assessed how much I would be making in a week, and I did it in a very certain way , I gave myself 10 dolars in a week ,so I expected 40 at the end of the month ,but guess what ,even after following his instructions correctly ,that month was a loss,i wonder how that pays his own bills ,forex is not a scam only that you need to trade on yourself ,And I repeat do not rely on those signals they are false and you may receive false signals forever. I'm so frustrated to paying my 2k to him. This time I will be more careful with what am doing ,no mentor I will teach myself through free YouTube channels and life goes. Besides even if I have made losses it does not mean it is the end ,it means I need to learn from the mistakes I have made. Today is the beginning of the 5th month in trading.

Now here comes a very good analysis by myself ,,this happened 30th after my mentors signal almost blew my 57 dollor account by then. Look at these two figures and see what I came up with;

fig. 6.0

As you can actually see in the figure of 4h timeframe ,at 30th I spotted FVG and by then the market looked like it was going upwards,so as by me I marked the FVG and an order block below it. My expectations were that the market will go up and also come down and that is what it did on 2nd Oct ,so look at it in 15 min time frame below ;

fig. 6.1

As you can see in min 15 ,the market reacted during 30th, 1st and 2nd the market decided to go up to touch the order block I have indicated above ,so when the order block was finally touched at around 4-5 p.m ,the market decided to go downwards and this confirmed to me that the market was rushing to fill the FVG it left behind and also an order block we had indicated in fig 6.0 above;

Do you recognize how this journey requires patience. Imagine waiting for long like that but waiting for a quality trade. This is incredible .(Hint the news this time were that there was a government shutdown in America).

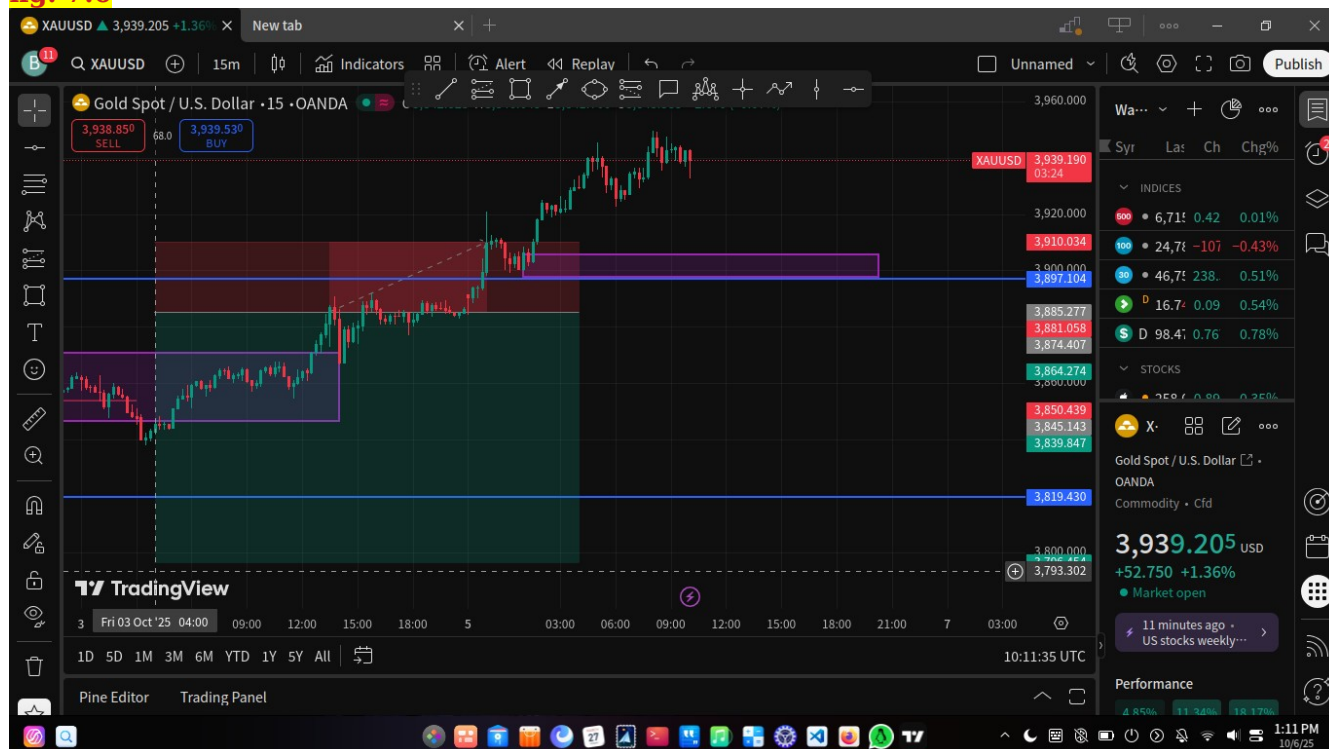

I will continue sharing more practices here until I see consistence today is on 3rd Oct and as I have indicated In the fig 6.1 the market really flew upwards and the price reached 3885.277 and this made me now confident that my analysis went good and I should be patience all the time.

Now look and this is very importance since I have started now following the news. Today 3rd it is the first friday of this monrh and the news says that first friday of every month ,the NFP (Non Farm -Payrolls) are released and these affects the market.So due to this period of Government shutdown in America ,the economic data are not released hence the NFP news went missing , As trader I saw the mentor say we should not trade ,and this is true because liquidity and volatilty of market gold that friday was low. This shows the importance of following the news ,if I was just following alone maybe it could not work.

Today 6th oct am looking for the market to come back as I have indicated in this figure

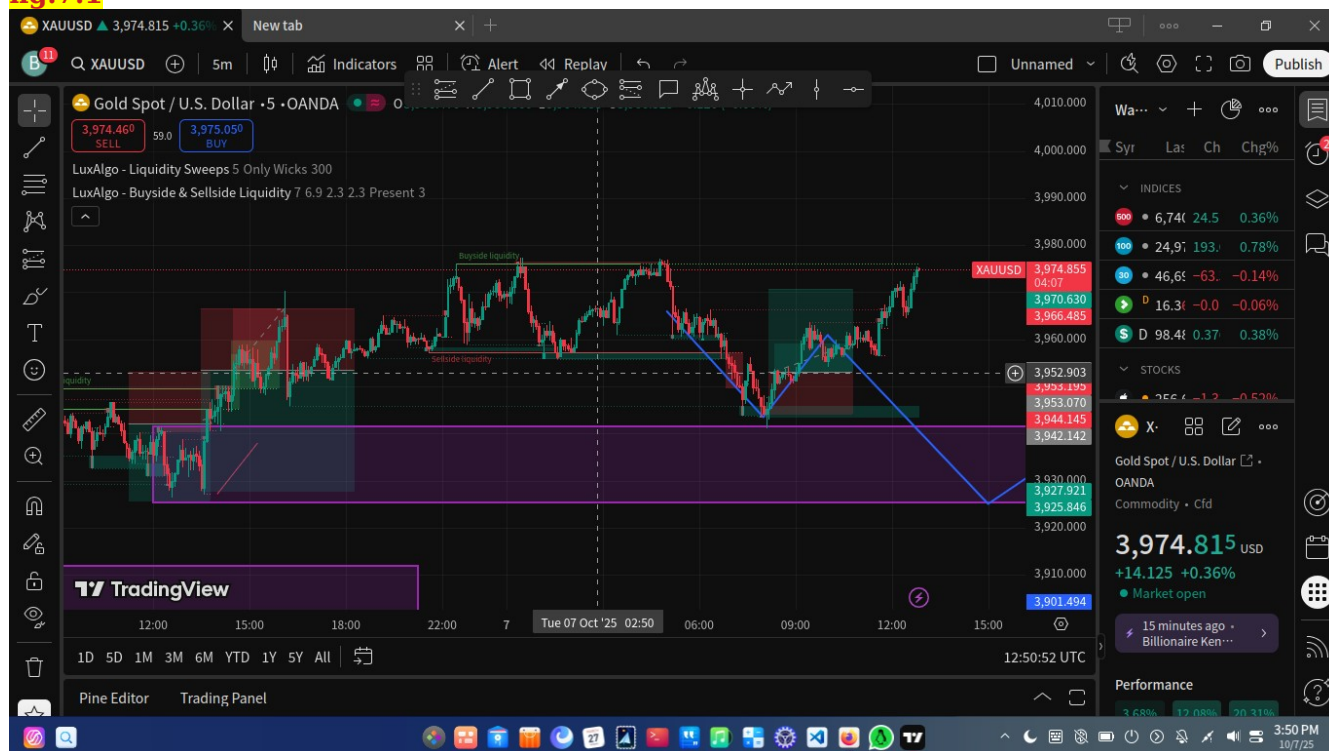

fig. 7.0

Lets wait and see ,i will update the trade I will take here if the market respects that;

As we awaits for our trade zone to be respected ,look at what I had spotted today 7th

the fig 7.1 is a 5 min time frame ,i have used indicators listed in the fig at the top left

this fig 7.2 shows what news we are anticipating today for USD since we are trading GOLD as a safe haven asset at this point of american Government Shutdown „lets monitor and see the movement of the market concerning fig 7.0 and 7.1 above the market respected the sellside liquidity also lets see whether it respects the buy-side liquidity; this took almost 5 hours to reach tp from the entry ,so if you are impatient you could basically close your positions or start panicing whenm the market slightly moved down, so here patient and discipline is required for you to hold to the tp l

If you have notised something here it is that im posting dynamic pictures of real movement of the market ,my goal is to ensure that my strategy and my trading plans works ,if not I will test another strategy ,but be with me and see what happens as the time goes

So as the time went and continued to trade ,i was not putting any stress on news until today 1st Oct 2025.I decided to be following news on ForexFactory Calender.This was after the mistake of following or copying the signals blindly. After this mistake I believed that following news could slightly improve my trading plan and also my confidence. I Gave myself a slight break from trading a live account and went to practice on demo account a bit ,I will be back with more fire and more perfect such that every one will notice.

GENERAL NEWS ACQUAINTANCESHIP

1.The U.S government shutdown = Essential programs like social security and medicare remain funded,This may somehow weaken the dolar and most traders run o save haven assets and pairs such as gold and eur/usd respectively.

2.FED Interests effect = the Federal Reserve's interest rate decisions are some of the most powerful drivers in forex and gold.

When the Fed Increases Interest Rates

1. USD Strengthens 💪

- Higher interest = investors get better returns for holding USD.
- So global money flows into USD → demand goes up → USD strengthens.

2. Gold Falls 📉

- Gold pays no interest (it's just a metal).
- If interest rates are high, investors prefer bonds or savings in USD rather than holding gold.

3. Stocks Often Fall 📉

- Higher borrowing costs → companies spend less, consumers borrow less → stock market often dips.

Effect on Major Pairs:

- EUR/ USD & GBP/ USD → usually fall (because USD is stronger).
- USD/JPY → usually rises (because USD strengthens, JPY is weak).
- USD/CAD → usually rises (same reason, unless oil prices spike to support CAD).

BUT — Important Note

- Sometimes markets already expect the Fed to hike.
 - If everyone expects +0.25% and they deliver +0.25%, reaction may be small or even opposite.
 - If they surprise with a bigger hike, reaction is huge.

- This is why traders say: “It’s not the rate hike itself, it’s the expectation vs reality.”

E x a m p l e:

- Fed raises interest rates by 0.50% (higher than expected).
 - USD shoots up → Gold dumps → EUR/USD and GBP/USD fall hard → USD/JPY climbs fast.
